BOOK #1 PREVIEW

Kimberly woke up and sighed. She knew that she should probably be getting ready for work right then, but she didn't want to be stuck at work when she felt so aroused after just waking up. She wished that she had someone to share her feelings with, but for the time being she was single and probably would be until she found somebody who she felt she could just enough to lead in on one of her most incredible secrets. That was unlikely to happen anytime soon though, which made her feel pretty bummed out about it.

BOOK #2 PREVIEW

Stephen Hart checked his watch. He didn't have to be home for another fifteen minutes, which was good because he wasn't done with his jog yet. He turned down the side street that was the closest to home and began his descent down the road. He loved exercising in the morning. These jogs were always so refreshing and calming. The peaceful world was just what he needed to start his day out right and make sure he had the boost he needed to get things done.

When he made it home, he had another ten minutes to shower and dress before he had to tidy his living room. The fuss that day was all about welcoming his family to his home, and this was always a very stressful event.

BOOK #3 PREVIEW

Sandra Ernest flipped through the pages in her book, curious to see what would happen next. The protagonist of this story was always coming up with innovative and creative solutions to the wild situations she got herself into, and this time she had been caught spying on the person she had a crush on and was going to have to come up with something to make herself seem like she was a lot more noble than she had appeared to be through her stalking.

BOOK #4 PREVIEW

Phoenix left the party exhausted. Her friends were fun, but they were a little bit more wild than she was. They wanted to drink and carry on all night long in a house blaring with music and snacks and beer, but all she wanted to do was head on home and finish her own private marathon of reality television. These people were great, but they weren't the best types of people for someone who was as much of an introvert as she was.

Phoenix had always been a big girl, and even though she had always heard that some big girls had trouble making friends because of their low self-esteem, that was a problem she herself had never faced.

BOOK #5 PREVIEW

Kayla was nervous about this. She was going to her first day on the job as a new legal secretary to one of the biggest law firms in the country. To say that she was nervous was the understatement of the year. In fact, she was utterly terrified over what was about to happen to her. She didn't want to screw this all up, and frankly, she was more worried about what was to come from the man himself than anything else. Kayla could feel the nerves getting to her, and as every second passed she realized that it was getting worse. A part of her wondered if maybe this was fate trying to play a trick on her, but the truth of the matter was, that she was just nervous about how the other man was going to react to her.
